

Jonathan Holder Foundation Governor

My name is Jonathan Holder and I became a Foundation Governor in May 2017. All three of my children had a Catholic primary education and many of my friends in Maidenhead are those who were parents at the primary school at the same time as my wife Hilda and myself. The school is a place of learning in a Catholic ethos for our children but I understand its broader reach which benefits parents and the wider community. As a member of the Catenians, I have organised a careers initiative for several years for students in two Catholic secondary schools in Slough seeking apprenticeships/work. My eldest daughter is a secondary school teacher which also gives me some insight into the world of education. For most of my professional life, I have been a commercial and media lawyer, but as I now transition towards semi-retirement, I have started part time work as a parish clerk.
